

I Am With You – In A New Way

What I would say to Nick and his supporters, those who have accepted the very difficult task of working with Nick on a mission that involves evolution and working together, working with each other, which of course must happen, but you who have chosen to work with Nick on this mission have chosen to work also with the institutions you are facing; with the institutions that are deeply rooted in their own, I would say in their own power, in their own ideas. You have chosen to take this on.

The most challenging part of this mission, in my mind, that I would have each and every one of you remember – and I know Nick feels this way – this mission will only succeed if you approach it with the love of God-inside expressing itself through you. The God-self that resides in each of your hearts must express itself thru you. Because if a mission of this magnitude is undertaken with anything – anything — other than love and compassion and understanding it will only aggravate the situation and will very likely fail. We do not want failure.

Nick is one who can lead you into this mission based on a Christ Consciousness inside, which is the foundation for the new human spirituality, the foundation needed for humanity's evolution. That I would tell you.

I would also tell you I will work with Nick through a channel. That means I am working with you thru a channel and thru Nick. But I am with you.

I want, for the sake of the spiritual growth of humanity, the truth at the core of my teachings to be freed. And this is what you can do. This is what you can do.

Working together you can make this come about. Working together patiently, intelligently, with awareness of who your allies are. And you will find allies in the ministry, allies who are not connected to the Vatican. You will find there are theologians and they have written books, many of them, who understand the depth of the changes that were perpetrated upon my teachings. Don't ignore them. Make them your allies. They may not have direct power in the Vatican, but they have influence within humanity. Know these clerics who are historically aware. Know every single one of them. For each of them has influence and some of them may join you. And the cry may extend, the cry to free the teachings may extend into humanity and reach Vatican ears thru them.

The Vatican. The Vatican holds the key. And I will also tell you that once you have achieved the freeing of the information that lies in the bowels of the Vatican and once that has been lovingly and with humility presented in its true form to counter distortions that have grown over time, then we are on the path of evolution. But there must be a bridge. That bridge must reach the heart of the institutions that perpetuate the distortions. And the other part of that bridge starts with your work in your hearts and you as a group, working together in support of Nick to build that bridge in love and in service to humanity.

This is a difficult task. I don't think I am telling you anything you don't know already. This is a task that is close to my heart because I do want my teachings free. I do want the core of my teachings to be known by the entire Christian Community. I will also tell you that once you have achieved the success with the Vatican, there are others who would benefit from your focus on them. You will, at that point, be working from success.

My heart is in freeing these teachings, as I have said, for the entire Christian Community. This may be at some point distant in the future, but I am going to ask you once the truths of the Vatican have been released and the bridge is built with them, I am going to most humbly ask you to look to the next place this bridge must be built. By then, and I smile, you will know how to build bridges because you are tackling the most difficult one first.

Now, I have dictated a rather long message that repeats much of what I said here, but is more generic and less personal. And I will review that message at Nick's request. And he was absolutely correct that I review it, for it was written generically, without due recognition of Nick and of you and of the task you have undertaken. But there is valuable information in there, I believe, and I hope that with the changes I will make at the points where I want to identify you, and particularly give my heartfelt message to you, I will add those points. I would ask your patience on that message, to understand that this kind of a partnership we are forging now, with myself and Nick and you thru this channel, this is the kind of partnership that will be emerging into humanity in other ways. We need not worry about that. The point is: it is a new partnership.

We are working together. We are working together in new ways. I am not the same person/entity I was 2000 years ago, and yet I am. If I had learned nothing in 2000 years, I would be exactly the same as I was then. I would like to point out that I have learned a few things in the past 2000 years. I have worked hard for the cause of humanity and human spiritual evolution and I have learned and grown myself.

Now we who are masters are forging new partnerships with humanity that will express themselves in new ways. I would hope that you take a look at the next message and understand that though there may seem to be very little spoken to you directly in that message, it is all for you and in support of what you are doing.

There are facts, there are things I wish to say that Nick has undoubtedly already said, but if you will be patient and allow me to say, from my heart, what I wish to say about this mission that you are on and highlight those areas where I most appreciate your work, I would ask your patience.

Once we get this new communication method worked out, I will bear in mind and direct these messages to Nick and to you with my encouragement and appreciation for all you are doing. There is no choice—there is no outcome but success. When that bridge is built with love and compassion and understanding there is no option, there is no possible outcome but success. And it may not be quick, but you know that.

Patience.

Love.

Compassion.

Persistence. Loving persistence. Loving persistence will win. And the truths, one by one if necessary, will be freed.

This is your doing. I will help and assist as I can.

Jeshua
